2 CHILD PROTECTION POLICY STATEMENT

Keeping children safe and nurtured is the fundamental responsibility of all schools. Protecting children also benefits a child's education since children who feel safe and nurtured are more successful learners. Bishkek International School (BIS) is therefore committed to the implementation of child protection strategies and procedures which prevent, as far as possible, cases of abuse occurring and which respond effectively when required.

This policy is designed to protect the rights of all children, as elucidated under the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (1989). The policy also takes as its framework the recommendations and expectations of the International Task Force on Child Protection (2014), building upon their considerable work involving multiple stakeholders and agencies in international education.

All BIS staff has the responsibility to provide a safe environment for children, to positively promote their welfare and to protect them from any harm or abuse.

The purpose of this policy is to ensure that:

All BIS staff must read and understand this Child Protection Policy and implement it in their work. At the beginning of each new school year, all teaching staff will update their knowledge of this policy and attend child protection training provided by BIS. New staff arriving after the start of the school year will also be required to read and understand this policy, and undergo child protection training as part of their induction process. Members of the Management and Governing Boards will also receive in-house Child Protection training during the course of the academic year.

The aim of Life-Skills Education is to enable students to develop an understanding of their rights and responsibilities as young people, and to apply personal and social skills to a range of life contexts. The Head of Student Welfare is responsible for developing and updating the Life-Skills curriculum under the guidance of the Director of Studies. A new Life-Skills curriculum provided by Wayfarer Education will be implemented for the academic year 2019/2020, covering issues including online safety, personal safety and healthy sexual behavior.

6 CREATING A SAFE ENVIRONMENT AND CULTURE IN THE SCHOOL

Staff must promote the emotional health and wellbeing of students in order that they may achieve their potential, rather than focus exclusively on attainment. It is therefore essential to create a safe environment at school for all staff and students. A culture of openness and transparency is to be promoted, which in turn encourages vigilance and a sense of shared responsibility for the safeguarding of students.

This culture promotes listening and open communication in which students, parents and all staff, irrespective of their role are able to communicate openly regarding any worries or concerns. All concerns are listened to and taken seriously, with the necessary action being taken as is warranted by the situation. Contact names and numbers for internal and external support services are made available so that students and their families know who they can talk to if they are worried. All BIS staff are aware that they can share any concerns about the conduct of colleagues through the procedure outlined in section 7.3, and that these will be received in a sensitive manner.

7 CHILD PROTECTION PROCEDURES

7.1 Recruitment

BIS is committed to ensuring the safety of all members of the school community through the application of rigorous recruitment procedures. All staff recruited to BIS must provide an official criminal record check from their home country and any country they have worked in for more than one year in the last five years. This is a routine process in the Kyrgyz Republic and in many countries from which BIS recruits its teachers and support staff.

If an individual cannot provide the official report, a written explanation for the lack of an official report must be given (Annex 5). This explanation must be investigated by the HR Officer and only accepted in the case that the home country does not provide such an official report and there are no grounds for any concern in relation to the prospective employee and their working with children. In this case, a signed statement by the prospective employee is required regarding the absence of any police record in any country and this must be countersigned as accepted by the HR Officer.

When recruiting any staff, the recruitment panel must always consider:

- Any reason why the individual should not work with children
- The reason for any gaps in employment
- Verified references from at least two previous employers, including the most recent employer, either in written form or by telephone, including the question: “is there any reason that you are aware of that the candidate should not work with children?”

7.2 Volunteers, Visitors and Campus Security

BIS is committed to minimizing risk to students through rigorous security measures applied to all adults on campus including volunteers and visitors. The Head of Administration is responsible for security. Security staff is always on-site, day and night every day of the year. All buildings are locked at night when not in use. School gates are kept locked, except for morning period of 7.30 to 8.30, pick-up time from 15.00 to 17.30, and for organized events for parents and children. The security guard must watch the pedestrian and vehicle entrance gates when they are unlocked. Anyone requiring access to the site outside this time will need to ring the bell to obtain the attention of the security guard.

Security personnel follow a protocol to ensure the safety of students, staff and visitors to the school during the school hours of 07:30 to 17:30. School Reception is manned continuously from 07.45 to 17.30. All visitors to the school, including parents, must report to, and sign in at, Reception before going elsewhere in the school. Visitors, including parents, will be accompanied by a staff member after reporting to Reception.

When the school is used for events outside normal school hours, security will ensure that only BIS staff has access to the school building. Other individuals (students, parents etc.) are only allowed access when accompanied by a responsible member of BIS staff. For all events at school outside normal school hours, the Head of Administration has the final decision on approval of the event and must ensure that safety and security provision is at the same standard as a normal school day. The cost of this provision should normally be included in the overall costs of the event.

All necessary information relating to school security can be found online in the Parent and Guardians Handbook.

7.3 Staff Behaviour

When working with children, staff must:

- Avoid inappropriate physical contact with any child;
- Avoid acting in a way that might be considered 'grooming' as described in Annex 4 of this policy;
- Ensure that children are supervised in a way that prevents peer on peer abuse.

7.4 Reporting Suspected Abuse

All Staff at BIS has primary responsibility for the welfare of children in their care. They are well placed to observe signs of abuse, changes in behaviour or failure to develop or thrive. Notification of abuse or neglect is required when a person suspects on reasonable grounds that a child has been or is being abused or neglected.

If any member of staff develops a concern of abuse and/or neglect he/she is to complete the Report Form in Annex 6 of this policy and notify the Child Protection Officer immediately. When completing the form or recording any conversations:

- Record notes using the child's own words, without adding your own interpretation and judgments;
- Sign all notes with the date and time as well as name of the signatory.

All notes regarding a concern of child abuse and/or neglect must be kept confidential and held securely by the Child Protection Officer. These notes are only to be disclosed to other parties as required by Kyrgyz Law or as approved by the BIS Governing Board, following notification of a case to the Chair of the Governing Board.

7.5 Abuse or Neglect by BIS Staff

If there is a suspicion that a BIS staff member is causing harm to a child, the school must respond no differently than if the alleged offender is a parent, relative or other caregiver. Teachers have daily access to children and the emotional and physical safety of a child is determined by the access of the offender to the child, thus disclosure of teacher offences must be handled immediately and with seriousness.

The integrity of a school and a system is NOT dependent on whether or not an offender exists; instead, the integrity of the school or system IS dependent on whether and how that school responds when an alleged offender within the school is reported. If any allegation of harm or abuse against a member of BIS staff is substantiated through internal investigation, the contract of said member of staff will be terminated with immediate effect.

If a BIS staff member is identified to be or suspected of harming a child:

- The staff member is immediately placed on administrative duties, or paid leave, with no contact with children;
- The Child Protection Officer informs the Chair of the Management Board and Chair of the Governing Board. In the event that the Chair of the Governing Board is not contactable within 4 hours a nominated member of the Governing Board is to be informed.
- The Chair of the Management Board and Chair of the Governing Board, or nominated Board member (with any other officials as decided by them) conduct an internal investigation of the alleged incident.
- Parents of the child in question will be notified by no later than the end of the school day that an allegation has been made and an internal investigation is underway. This notification will further inform parents that the member of staff has been suspended from classroom duties pending the outcome of an internal investigation. Parents will also be kept informed of key developments throughout the investigation process.

- The Chair of the Management Board and Chair of the Governing Board decide on whether the staff member is to be returned to regular duties or if a different course of action is required;
- If the internal investigation discloses evidence or serious suspicion of harm, the appropriate authorities will be informed;
- The staff member is informed of the outcome of the internal investigation, subject to any legal process ongoing.

7.6 Educational Visits and Residential Trips

Educational visits and off-site residential trips are an integral part of students' learning experience. All BIS Staff involved in the planning of and participation in these trips have the same duty to ensure the safety of all students involved.

An Educational Visits Coordinator (EVC) is appointed by the Management Board. The Educational Visits Coordinator is normally the Assistant Head of School, but may be another member of staff, as approved by the Management Board. The Chair of Management Board ensures that if the Educational Visits Coordinator's role and responsibilities are designated to another member of staff, that member of staff is appropriately experienced and suitably trained to undertake the role. The Educational Visits Coordinator has delegated responsibility to authorize all off-site School visits and to ensure that all trips are prepared and conducted in accordance with the required standards. The EVC should keep records of all planned educational visits and inform all relevant staff members of the details of each visit and participants in advance of the visit.

The individual Trip Organizer has overall responsibility for the supervision and conduct of the visit and continues to monitor the arrangements to ensure the ongoing health and safety of the group. The Trip Organizer is responsible for seeking approval and advice from the EVC, assessing the risk levels of the trip and making the necessary safety arrangements. The Trip Organizer will designate one member of staff to be the Group Leader of the trip. This individual should be on call at all times during the specified period and should not drink alcohol or be otherwise unavailable to drive or make important decisions.

Before any trip is authorized, the necessary risk assessment should be carried out and submitted for consideration to the EVC. This will include any potential hazards, medical requirements of students involved and the vetting of any accommodation providers for residential trips. BIS does not currently organise trips which place students in homestay accommodation. All necessary information relating to educational visits can be found online in the Educational Visits Policy.

7.7 Self-Harm and Suicide Risk

If there is evidence of or concern about self-harm or suicide risk, staff, students or parents should notify the Child Protection Officer. Assessment and follow-up procedures are given in Annex 7 to this policy.

7.8 Reporting Responsibilities

All Staff at BIS has a duty to ensure the safety of the children in their care. Therefore, suspected or confirmed cases of physical and sexual abuse, physical neglect and emotional maltreatment MUST be reported. The reporter should have reasonable cause or reasonable suspicion to believe that abuse or neglect has occurred. The reporter is not required to have proof.

The school shall not hold responsible or fault any school employee making a report of abuse that is later judged to be false, unless it can be demonstrated that the person willfully and intentionally falsified a report.

Annex 2: Providing Support to a Child Disclosing Abuse

You do not need to know the details of the possible abuse or to be certain whether or not an indicator means abuse has taken place in order to report.

Listen to as much as the child wants to tell you without pushing the child for details. Try to keep limits, giving the child alternatives to talk to others in the support system, if more time is needed.

If a student discloses to a teacher in private and tries to elicit a promise that the teacher will not tell anyone, it is important for the teacher to explain that he/she has concerns about the student's safety and will have to take action to ensure the student is protected from further abuse.

A child may tell you directly and specifically what is going on, or s/he may hint indirectly at a situation. Sometimes, the child will use "strings attached," such as asking the teacher to promise not to tell anyone (a promise the teacher cannot keep) or, a child may claim the problem belongs to someone else, that s/he is only there about a friend. Judgment should be used in deciding how much to discuss about the situation with the child.

Support of the child is important. In order to do this, the following recommendations are suggested:

- Reassure the child that they have done the right thing by telling someone.
- . Reassure the child that it is not her/his fault.
- Reassure the child that the necessary measures will be taken to keep them safe.
- Ask the child if it is okay for the Child Protection Officer to be present.
- Limit any questioning to the minimum necessary to seek clarification only, strictly avoiding 'leading' the child or adult who has approached them by making suggestions or asking questions that introduce their own ideas about what may have happened. Do not ask questions like 'Did he do X to you?' Ask a minimum number of questions such as 'Tell me what has happened?'
- Stop asking questions as soon as the adult/child has disclosed that he or she believes that something abusive has happened to him or her or to someone else.
- Tell the child what to expect. If you don't know, say so, but let the child know s/he can be supported by you.
- Project a calm, understanding and supportive attitude to the child.
- Avoid having the child repeat her/his explanation to different staff.
- Let the child know that you must tell others to get help. Explain that you will have to tell another person, but only those who need to know in order to keep the child safe. Use a script such as "If you tell me something that makes me feel that you are unsafe or at risk in any way, then I will need to tell someone else".
- Make clear, detailed notes of the conversation.
- Respect the child's privacy by not discussing the situation with anyone except the Child Protection Officer and those involved in further professional action.
- If the Child Protection Officer has not been present for disclosure, locate them and take the child to them. In the event that you cannot find the CPO, email them and take the child to the inclusive education room. Remain with the child until the CPO is present.
- After reporting, it is important to maintain a supportive presence for the child.

In addition:

- It is important to understand the importance of early reporting.
- An educator who reports in good faith will not be held liable by the school if the report later turns out to be false.

Reporting a child disclosure is a request for an investigation.

Annex 3: Fears of Disclosure

A child may be frightened of disclosing what has happened because of fears of:

Remembering: Abused children often cope by pushing the experience as far back in their minds as they can, to “forget” and avoid feeling hurt again.

Losing love: Child victims often feel responsible for what happened to them. Because of these, they worry that their parents and friends will stop loving them, once they learn about the abuse. They fear the separation from loved ones that could result from their telling.

Shame & guilt: Children either know or can sense that their abuse is wrong. This makes telling someone and acknowledging it occurred, shameful. Older children have also been known to suffer more from a sense of guilt than younger ones.

Being blamed: Children fear that they will be blamed for their own abuse and that they somehow deserved it or wanted it. People tend to believe adults more than they would believe children. In cases of sexual abuse, offenders also often make the excuse that their victims “asked” to be touched sexually. Children have a right to ask for and receive care and attention. Children cannot give informed consent to any sexual act as they are under the legal age of consent to do so. All sexual contact with children is therefore non-consensual.

Further harm: Offenders often threaten their victims and their families as a means of maintaining control. Victims then carry the burden of keeping their families safe by not telling.

Annex 4: Recognizing ‘Grooming’ of Children

‘Grooming’ is a subtle, gradual, and escalating process of building trust with a child. It is deliberate and purposeful. Abusers may groom children for weeks, months, or even years, before any sexual abuse actually takes place. It usually begins with behaviors that may not even seem to be inappropriate.

Grooming children may include:

- Testing a child’s boundaries through telling inappropriate jokes, roughhousing, backrubs, tickling, or sexual games.
- Moving from non-sexual touching to “accidental” sexual touching. This typically happens during play so the child may not even identify it as purposeful, inappropriate touching. It is often done slowly so the child is gradually desensitized to the touch.
- Manipulating the child to not tell anyone about what is happening. The abuser may use a child’s fear, embarrassment, or guilt about what has happened. Sometimes, the abuser uses bribery, threats, or coercion.
- Confusing the child into feeling responsible for the abuse. Children may not notice or may become confused as the contact becomes increasingly intimate and sexual.

Potential warning signs of grooming or sexual abuse in the context of education include:

- Regular contact with a child which is not part of normal school duties, for example, frequently meeting a child in break-time or frequent contact with a child on non-school days
- A children receiving special attention or preferential treatment
- Excessive time spent alone with a child outside of the classroom
- Frequently spending time with a child in private or isolated areas
- Giving small gifts, toys, cards, letters, sweets, to a favoured child
- Using texts, telephone calls, e-mails or social networking sites to inappropriately communicate with a child
- Overly affectionate behaviour with a child
- Flirtatious behaviour or making suggestive remarks or comments of a sexual nature around a child
- Other children are suspicious and make jokes or references

Who grooms children in the context of education?

Abusers come from all sections of society and are often perceived by others as respectable, reliable and trustworthy people. Research indicates that the majority of those offending in the context of education were teachers and educators but drivers, administrators, and others affiliated with the school may also sexually offend.

Annex 8: Ensuring Safety in Remote Learning

This appendix is intended to highlight particular concerns pertaining to remote learning, which brings teachers and students into contact online. The information here is based upon the BIS Child Protection policy and the recommendations from the International Centre for Missing and Exploited Children (<https://drive.google.com/drive/u/0/folders/0B0Ooe3p5t2qfMDhKQmd2RDFPSEE>). Our child protection statement and procedures for staff and students as detailed in the Child Protection policy apply also to remote learning environments, including conduct expectations and reporting responsibilities.

Principles of remote learning child protection:

- Follow school child protection policy and professional code of conduct.
- Participants in a video call/conference must be informed in advance that “Any video conference between a BIS staff member and BIS student (alone or in conference call) will be recorded for child protection purposes, and stored for 3 months in case any questions are raised by any party in regard to child protection issues between a student and teacher. Access to the video record will be only available to the host teacher and (in case of need) to BIS Child Protection staff”
- Contact must be recorded and should be conducted in an observable location where possible. Online meetings should be password protected and ‘waiting room’ enabled where these functions are available.
- Maintain appropriate boundaries - avoid conduct that a reasonable person might question.
- Avoid being alone or causing someone else to be alone with a child.
- Report child protection concerns to your safeguarding designate.
- Ensure your personal social media is private and inaccessible to students.
- Seek educational solutions to educational problems.
- Assess risk if you’re not sure!

Communication - guidelines for digital and online contact with students:

- School platforms: All communications are on school platforms and if possible, using school WIFI. Proxy logins may be needed.
- Educational purpose: All communication with students should have an educational purpose.
- Professional boundaries: Adults are responsible for maintaining appropriate boundaries. This is not the job of the student.
- Visibility: Virtual synchronous sessions must be recorded* and should be conducted in a place that is observable where possible. Communications follow school policy. Communication with multiple students is preferred.

* permission should be granted by participants according to local law

Communication pitfalls - situations to AVOID online:

- Casual or intimate atmosphere: Intimate locations, nicknames, private conversations, observational comments about home or family, oversharing personal details.
- On camera, an impersonal or blurred background is preferred and is less distracting for student learning. A professional tone is critical to maintaining boundaries online.
- Changing platforms: Avoid the temptation to change platforms if communication is disrupted by technical difficulties. Reschedule the session instead.
- Unclear expectations: Ensure synchronous learning events are predictable, structured, and distraction free.
- Code of conduct violations: Meeting children on other platforms, taking photos or screenshots of students, out of program contact, favoritism, derogatory or sexist remarks, being under the influence of alcohol or drugs are grounds for disciplinary action or dismissal (these expectations apply also to students).

BIS accountability procedures:

- Any video conference between a BIS staff member and BIS student (alone or in conference call) will be recorded for child protection purposes, and stored for 3 months in case any questions are raised by any party in regard to child protection issues between a student and teacher. Access to the video record will be only available to the host teacher and (in case of need) to BIS Child Protection staff.
- The recording will be made by the host teacher from start to end of the session, and the recording saved either on their local device or in the cloud.
- All recordings must be transferred by the host teacher to the designated central folder on GDrive within 7 calendar days of the recording, and must not be deleted by the teacher for at least 3 months.
- If a teacher forgets to record a session or the record is incomplete for any reason, they must inform the Child Protection Officer in writing within 2 days of the video session to explain the reason for unavailability of the recording.
- Any party can make a confidential report to BIS Child Protection Officers at any time.
- The Child Protection Officer(s) will review the meeting record on GDrive, or request it from the teacher, if it is not on GDrive
- Failure to provide the meeting record will be taken as evidence of guilt in case of complaint, and any complaint will be upheld.
- Further action will be taken, as required, dependant on the incident reported and observed in the recording

Disciplinary procedure:

All BIS staff have a responsibility to read and abide by the guidance included in this document. Any failure to do so will result in action being taken in line with the procedure outlined in the BIS Child Protection policy.
